While many conspiracies about the Wuhan coronavirus (COVID-19) have been revealed to be true, one stands out – the fact that a member of the infamous Rothschild family holds the patent for COVID-19 testing.

"It has been reported that ... COVID-19 caught the world by surprise in 2020," wrote 100 Percent Fed Up. "Well, all of us – except the Rothschilds, according to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office."

According to the outlet, a British national named Richard Rothschild was granted a patent for "System and Method for Testing for COVID-19, with a priority date of Oct. 13, 2015 – the date when the patent was first filed. (Related: Patent document shows that DARPA built covid with the help of Bill Gates, WHO.)

Based on the patent's abstract, the method calls for the use of "a pulse oximeter to acquire at least pulse and blood oxygen saturation percentage." The oximeter's readings are then "transmitted wirelessly to a smartphone" equipped with an accelerometer for accuracy.

"Once accurate data is acquired, it is uploaded to the cloud (or host), where the data is used (alone or together with other vital signs) to determine whether the user is suffering from (likely to suffer from) a viral infection, such as COVID-19," it continued. "Depending on the specific requirements, the data, changes thereto, and/or the determination can be used to alert medical staff and take corresponding actions."

Fact-checkers come to the rescue

In October 2020, Reuters published a "fact-check" piece about the matter, describing the

However, it quickly went on defensive mode by noting that the patent for such a system was not applied for until May 2020. Reuters also alleged that the individual who disclosed the Rothschild patent has conflated the definition of "priority date" and "application date."

"The priority date can refer to the earliest filing date in a family of related patent applications or the earliest filing date of a particular feature of an invention. In this case, Oct. 13, 2015 is when Rothschild first made a provisional application within this family of patents."

Moreover, Reuters disclosed that a separate patent for a "System and Method for Using, Biometric, and Displaying Biometric Data" was filed in April 2017. The outlet ultimately deemed the claim as false, explaining that "the year 2015 was when Rothschild first filed a provisional application within the family of patents. The year 2017 is the filing date of a related, but separate patent within the family."

While the identity of the 2015 patent holder remains a mystery, his British lineage can possibly be traced to the family of Nathan Mayer Rothschild. The patriarch of the English branch of the Rothschild banking family was sent to the United Kingdom by his father, Mayer Amschel Rothschild, to establish a presence there.
